“ It would be fair to say that Hannah, was world class. That she had her own way about her. But approachable and sincere, she often helped those when no one was looking. Her quirky sense of humor is what I miss most. My condolences to you and your family.

“ I missed you from the day you retired from county service. I could always count on you for help at the office and a quick joke to destress. Your work ethic was something to be admired. Although, I did not have the pleasure of working with you for very long, I can definitely say I will never forget you. My condolences to your family and friends and I you are now in a better place.

“ Words cannot express how sad I am losing you. Even though I was your boss, it was more than that to me. I might as well call you my sister, because that's how much our friendship has grown over the years. Loved you like I would my sister. You will truly be missed by many. Thanks for your hard work, dedication, and caring spirit. You did a phenomenal job as a Deputy Public Guardian and as a case manager. No matter what you had to deal with, you always showed up to the job, willing and able to work. You could fix anything, that's how you got the name around the office as "Miss MacGyver". Spread your wings high my beautiful angel. I am sure you will be beautiful in heaven as you were on this earth. Goodbye for now until we meet again.
