“ My dad was just trying to make it through his difficult 😞 life he had cause he was very traumatized as he was a young child and getting older he suffered a lot through his lifelong struggle but on the other side he was a very strong man who thought me to be a good strong person through life and never let anyone or anything get me down! He always was very supportive on making me stronger when I was giving up on myself to never let anyone or anything get me down!and gave me good advice by telling me his cute stories and advice which cheered me up and made me feel better I also liked that he had a lot of people that liked him a lot for the nice person he was towards others!every time his friends and neighbors saw him they would be so happy to see him and give him hugs!. And he would always make everyone cheerful around him!So sad 😞 u had to go DAD and not be able too cheer up everyone anymore! We will miss your presence and cheers towards all of us Adios padre Goodbye DAD it's very hard to say goodbye to u and may u be cheering every one from heaven DAD I will miss u Always DAd love ❤️ u!Go rip in God's presence and happily in your Palace!

“ My condolences to the Gomez family. Your dad was a very special man. He came into my life at the time when I didn't have my dad he welcomed me with his open arms. There were times when I needed to call him to help me through difficult times in my life and he was always there for me. He never said no some special memories were seeing his beautiful drawings of his memories. He shared back in the days, he taught me how to have patience thru very difficult times which was not an easy thing to do. Thank you Jose Gomez Gonzalez for being a best friend to me. Love you always go with the angels rest in paradise. ❤️🙏🏻100
